

Celeste Kolanko, Med

Celeste has more than 20 years of experience in business and education. She has focused the past 10+ years in IME/CME, delivering large-scale, global programmes across a variety of therapy areas. She has been an active member of the Good CME Practice Group (gCMEp) where she has served as a member of the Steering Group.

Celeste also led the team that won the 2010 Alliance for Continuing Education in the Health Professions (ACHP) award for Outstanding Industry Supported CME Activity, and has been a frequent presenter at the European CME Forum. She has made other presentations for the healthcare communications community at a variety of events.

Celeste is currently Managing Director of Liberum IME, a division of Open Health; this independent team was started by the organisation in order to meet the needs of a growing European market, with Celeste recruited to bring best IME/CME practice to the new organisation. She has held other senior leadership roles in both Europe and the USA, including Managing Director of PCM Scientific, a London-based organisation, and a senior leadership role at DIME, an accredited provider that achieved accreditation with commendation under the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME).

Managing Director Liberum IME (an Open Health Company) London, UK	Mar 2017 – present
Managing Director PCM Scientific London, UK	Jan 2014 – Feb 2017
Independent Consultant New York, USA	Aug 2011 – Dec 2013
SVP Director of eEducation Strategy & Development DIME Chicago & New York, USA	Jan 2007 – Jan 2010